day. Mr. Seabury in his letter answered three of the six questions propounded by the Governor. These dealt with Mr. Seabury's long advocacy of the single tax. Mr. Seabury, in prefacing his reply, says that the questions were asked to divert attention from his charges. Mr. Seabury's answer follows:

"For many years the revenues of the state have been derived from certain so-called indirect taxes, such as excise, inheritance, corporation, franchise and mortgage taxes. This had been the situation in New York for many years until you blundered into the imposition of a direct tax of $18, the state taxes are the free state taxes are the president wilson at the night meeting will be Martin H. Glynn. On the platform, however, will be Samuel Seabury and William F. McCombs. President Wilson has said that he would call the attention of his hearers to the necessity of electing a Democratic Senator if they intended to return him to the White House. He will make a plea for the state ticket as well.

Mr. Seabury then quotes a letter signed by Mr. Whitman two years ago when running for office, saying that if he was elected and the Legislature passed a bill reducing the tax rate on buildings in New York City to 1 per cent of the tax value on land he would do nothing to interfere with the referendum. Mr. Seabury then asks the Governor how he reconciles that position with his present one.

He also calls upon him to answer the nineteen charges he made in his open letter of ten days ago and the five charges he since added

Will Talk to Business Men

President Wilson will arrive in this city shortly after noon from Shadow Lawn. He will speak at a meeting of the Woodrow Wilson Business Men's League at the Waldorf. Business legislation is to be his topic at this affair.
In spite of the fact that this meeting is called the close of the Presidential campaign, so far as Mr. Wilson is concerned, another speech will be made at Shadow Lawn the following day. This address, according to the President's managers, will be in the nature of a chat with his neighbors and friends in New Jersey. That it will not be confined to such near neighbors is indicated, however, by the statement that special trains will be run from this city.

IN SOUTH AMERICA

Although the Democratic National Committee is carefully guarding the facts revealed in its nation-wide nell in the interests of President Wilson, its representatives freely discuss their candidate's chances in some districts. In South America, or instance, they announce that the President's candidacy is most favorably looked upon.

"The people of Latin America are practically unanimous in desiring the re-election of President Wilson," said Hector F. Escardo, member of the House of Deputies of Peru, according to the Democratic National Committee.

Builder of Steel Highways

Dear Mr. Gould:

As the head of a great American family whose name is indelibly associated with the nation's development, your attention is naturally attracted by anything that speaks of progress and benefits the people as a whole. It is part of your heritage.

And even as small an article as a cigarette, if it furnishes the most comfort to the greatest number, and carefully conserves the income of the consumer, must arouse your interest and admiration. Hence, Mr. Gould, I beg to introduce to you, the LORD SALISBURY CIGARETTE, made and guaranteed by The American Tobacco Company-grown in Turkey, finished in America and worthy the friendship of any man.

To a man of your quick per-
